Allen Carpe Killed When On Mountain Expedition

Explorer Trapped In Fissure On Desolate Mt. McKinley

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 17.—On the desolate glacial slope of Mt. McKinley today a rescue party hunted survivors of a disastrous expedition which sought to study the cosmic ray from North America's highest peak.

Two were known dead, victims of the treacherous crevasses of the Muldow Glacier. They were Allen Carpe, research engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., at New York, formerly of Xenia, O., and his fellow scientist, Theodore Koven, New Jersey. Missing was Nicholas Spadaveckia, New York engineer, who started down the mountain side four days ago to bring aid to his companions and has not been seen since.

Of the two known survivors, E. P. Beckwith, New York explorer, was here while Percy T. Olton, Jr., remained in the desolate ice-strewn region between Mt. Wilson and Muldow glacier to direct the hunt for Spadaveckia.

Beckwith, suffering abdominal pains and unable to eat for the past six days, was brought here by airplane. He said Carpe had been the first victim in the expedition which flew to the glacier in two groups late in April and early in May. Carpe slipped into a deep fissure and it was doubtful if his body would ever be recovered.

BOMBAY DEATH TOLL MOUNTS

EIGHTY DEAD, 950 INJURED DURING RIOTS

Hindu - Moslem Riots Spread; British Troops Rushed

BOMBAY, May 17.—Riotous fighting between Hindus and Moslems which caused eighty deaths and 950 injuries in four days spread to the mill area today after armored cars and British troops rushed here had eased the situation in the Hindu quarter.

Despite the police and military reinforcements, today's casualties were thirteen dead and 150 injured. Police fired on mobs looting and burning in twelve different localities. Troops charged with bayonets this evening on a Pathan gang looting cloth shops, wounding several.

Curfew orders were proclaimed prohibiting free movement, loitering, or the assembly of over five persons in the streets. The second battalion of the Green Howards (Yorkshire) regiment and five armored cars from Poona patrolled the native sections.

Hindu mill hands attacked a mosque last night. Police were unable to break up gatherings of workers while the military could not be called away from patrol duty.

Bombay auxiliary units were mobilized. Tanks were en route here from Poona. Casualties in yesterday's guerrilla warfare in which Hindus and Moslems were ambushed, murdered in the streets, or burned alive in their homes, were thirty-two killed and 256 wounded. Hundreds of Hindus were housed and fed in the Hindu temple here under strong guard and thousands of others were escorted outside the danger zones.

Local morgues were filled with bodies and hospitals were so hard pressed to care for the injured that many were placed on verandas. Guards were stationed at the hospitals to prevent possible raids on the injured.

Most of the casualties were suffered in by-lanes in the native quarters. Assaults usually managed to escape. Houses were set on fire, property was looted and the rioters built huge bonfires in the streets.

The trouble started Saturday when the traditional rivalry between Hindus and Moslems was fanned to violence by the stoning of several Hindu houses.

AL SMITH PRESENTS PROGRAM TO ASSIST DURING EMERGENCY

Calls For Support Of President And Less Politics

NEW YORK, May 17.—Alfred E. Smith has called upon congress to play politics, and as if to set an example, presented his own financial program for the national emergency which demands defeat of soldier bonus legislation and calls for support of President Hoover in effecting economies through consolidation of government bureaus and activities.

The Democratic presidential candidate in 1928 called for a manufacturer's sale tax, a wine and beer tax to finance unemployment relief construction, and he urged congress to suppress all "blobs," cabals, insurrections and mugwump tactics by whatever name they may be called which bedevil legislation, increase the depression, unsettle business and endanger our credit at home and abroad.

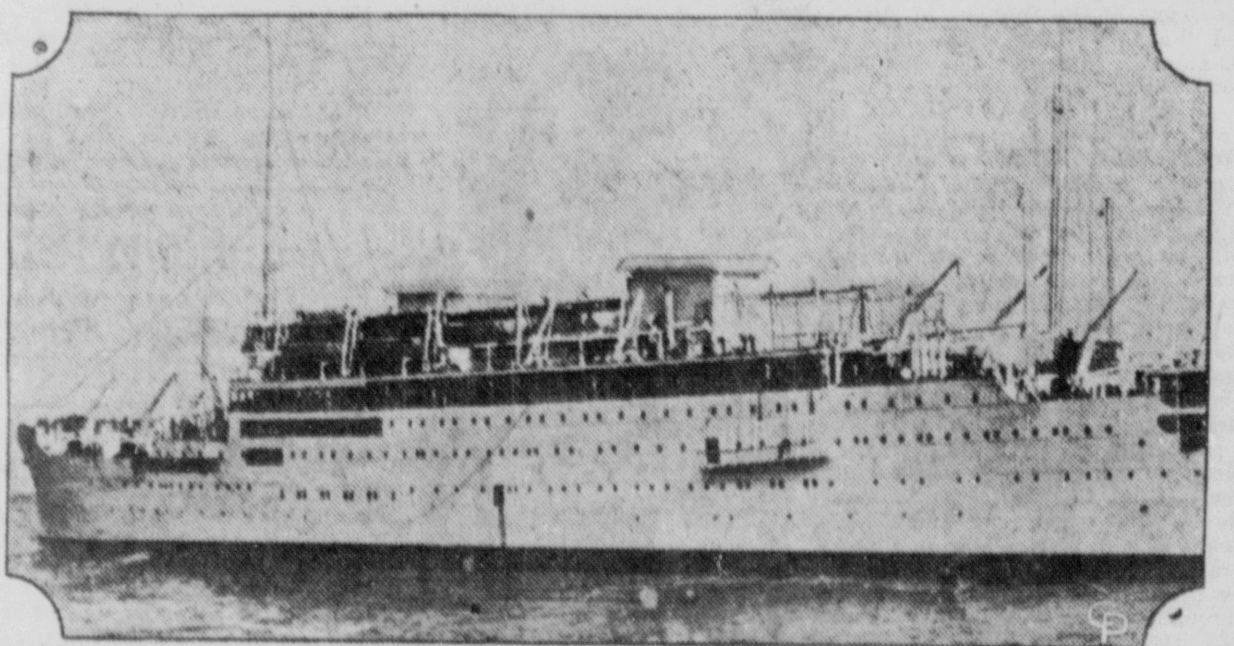

The program was announced in an address last night. It repeated certain other measures, such as repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and extension of President Hoover's moratorium through granting power to make such an extension "until a real solution can be reached."

The Democratic leader criticized President Hoover's unemployment relief plan calling for use of funds of the reconstruction finance corporation. He urged that the President be given "a free hand to provide aid for productive public works of states and municipalities."

Former Governor Smith's most radical departure from the politician's program came in his statement of policy on veterans' relief. He said:

"No group of patriots properly asked that their country become a national bureau of veterans' relief."

REPORT 100 LOST AS NEW LUXURY LINER BURNS

Here is the 21,000-ton French luxury liner Georges Philpar which sank in flames off the coast of Italian Somaliland. Nearly 600 passengers were saved by passing boats while 100 are believed lost. The ship, only a few months old, was en route from Singapore to Marseilles. Fire broke out as she entered the Red Sea.

SENATOR HUEY LONG GROWS ORATORICAL OVER TAX MEASURE

Provides Boisterous Session As Action Still Delayed

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Oratory threatened to swamp the tax bill today despite long hours and night sessions in the senate. The heralded night meetings that were to get congress out of Washington by June 10 began with a boisterous session.

Senator Huey P. Long, Dem., La., foretook his back-bench, freshman seat and to the amazement of his seniors ridiculed the senate and its methods of business in a three-hour speech last night.

Long favored the Connally amendment to fix normal incomes taxes at 4 and 8 per cent and to graduate surtaxes up to a maximum of 55 per cent on $1,000,000 incomes, against the committee rates of 3, 7 and 45 per cent. This remained the business before the senate today.

The senate previously had rejected, 49 to 31, the Connally amendment to make the rates 6, 12 and 65 per cent. Three days the senate had struggled with this amendment every day of delay costing the treasury around $2,000,000 in uncollected taxes.

At 7:20 p. m. Long got the floor. There followed a scene the like of which senate veterans could not recall.

Long played no favorites. He spoke from the middle of the center aisle. His gesticulations sometimes grazed Smoot's nose. Again his fists were pumping toward the Democrats. The self-styled "Kingfish" in action was something to see.

With half his colleagues purring with rage, Long would say something funny. Senators laughed in spite of themselves. The galleries whooped. Vice President Curtis, pounding his gavel, admonished the galleries.

"Why senators," Long shouted, "this finance committee would tax even the little fellow who pays ten cents for his movie ticket."

"The tax begins at eleven cents," Smoot protested gravely.

"Oh, God bless the committee," Long roared.

When majority leader Watson sought to discourage his discourse, Long remarked:

"I am beginning to be convinced by the logic of my own argument I feel the urge to talk."

CHILD KILLED IN FALL FROM FARM IMPLEMENT

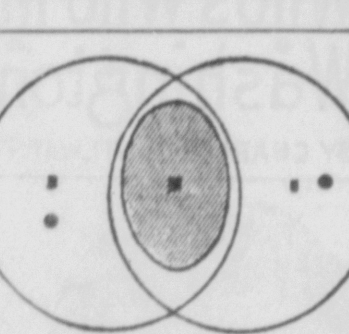

Wayne Lile, 10, Suffers Broken Neck In Accident While Operating "Drag" At Home Early Tuesday; Death Instantaneous

Wayne Lile, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lile, Cincinnati Pike, four miles south of Xenia, died instantly Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock from a broken neck received when he fell from a "drag" in a field near his home.

The boy was dragging a field with the implement hitched to a team of horses. His father was at the barn nearby and saw him working. When he saw the horses stop he went to his son and found him under the "drag". He was dead when found. Dr. W. M. Hartinger, Spring Valley, was called and an examination revealed the only injury the boy received was a broken neck. Dr. R. L. Haines, Jamestown, Greene County coroner, returned a verdict of accidental death.

The youth had always taken interest in the farm and had recently expressed a desire to work on the farm this summer. Wayne attended Union School and had been promoted to the sixth grade for the coming term. Besides his parents he is survived by a sister, Mabel Irene, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lile, Cincinnati Pike and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, west of Xenia. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

KIDNAPERS' SIGN

Reprinted from Bronx Home News. Dr. John F. Condon, "Jafsie", who recently paid $50,000 ransom for the return of the Lindbergh baby, was convinced he was dealing with the kidnapers because of the "signature", shown above, appearing in a note in answer to one of his advertisements in a New York newspaper. The same kind of symbol was found in the original ransom note left in the baby's crib.

MOONSHINERS NOW REFINE GASOLINE

NEW STRAITSVILLE, O., May 17.—The price of bootleg liquor has fallen to such a low level that moonshiners in the hills near here have been using their equipment to distill gasoline from oil, Sheriff Clifford Wilson reported today.

The Preston Oil Co. here complained to Sheriff Wilson that large quantities of crude oil were missing from its storage tanks. It was learned the oil had been taken into abandoned mines.

The sheriff and several deputies raided the mines. In one they found a complete moonshiner's outfit, rigged to distill gasoline from oil by using a new process.

Several tanks of finished gasoline were confiscated as well as the new distillery. No arrests were made.

REPORT 100 ARE MISSING FROM BURNED LINER

Passengers Trapped By Flames; Many Others Rescued

LONDON, May 17.—At least 100 persons are missing from the liner Georges Philpar, according to a wireless message to the Evening Standard from Capt. Owen of the British ship Contractor, which rescued seventy-five of the liner's passengers.

Capt. Owen credited Capt. Vieg of the Georges Philpar with the estimate of at least 100 lost. Many first class passengers were reported trapped in their cabins by fire.

"Approaching the Georges Philpar we found a few hundred people grouped on the forecastle head," Capt. Owen reported. "We lowered two boats and took off seventy-five passengers. The fire is believed to have originated from a short circuit in an empty cabin deluxe."

"The wireless room and the captain's quarters were said to have been destroyed first. The fire traveled rapidly through all staterooms fanned by a fresh breeze. My officers on the second journey reported that the French captain was the last to leave and that nobody was left aboard," Capt. Owen reported.

"Our boats saved some of the crew and passengers hanging over the bow on ropes. Many jumped in the sea."

"By 8 a. m. the steamer was burning furiously fore and aft from the water's edge. Many passengers were slightly burned. Wives were separated from husbands and children from parents."

"All the passengers rescued were in night attire. They lost everything else. We are due at Aden at 4 p. m. today."

CERTAIN PERSON IS UNDER SUSPICION; JURY PROBE STARTS

Coast Guard Seeking Fishing Schooner Off Coast Line

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 17.—One man whose name is either unknown or unrevealed is definitely being sought in connection with the kidnapping and murder of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., police stated today.

This announcement, in the regular morning police bulletin issued by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, came as the Bronx County grand jury in New York began investigating the payment of $50,000 to a group of men who claimed to be the kidnapers. The payment was made by Dr. John F. Condon (Jafsie) and he was one of the witnesses to be heard, along with Col. Henry L. Brockbridge, Colonel Lindbergh's friend and legal adviser.

Col. Schwarzkopf was asked whether police, in seeking through various penal institutions and mental hospitals, were seeking a specific individual. Dr. Condon yesterday visited several such places in the Bronx and it has been announced he would attend the lineup at the New York City police headquarters in an attempt to identify the man to whom he paid the $50,000.

"There is a generally described individual, unnamed, we have in mind," Colonel Schwarzkopf said. "We will not mention his description as we want no positive and it would be misleading and tend to confuse those we have requested to interrogate prisoners."

At the same time, coast guard vessels which have been cruising the waters between the Virginia capes and Cape Cod, sought a Gloucester fishing schooner whose name they claim to have learned from descriptions given by John H. Curtis, Norfolk boat man.

Both Curtis and Condon took most active parts in negotiations with supposed kidnapers for the return of the Lindbergh baby. The intensive search indicated today was based on the assumption that the man who dealt with Condon and the men who dealt with Curtis were the kidnapers, or at least had contact with the kidnapers of the baby.

Captain Randolph Ridgley of the coast guard here said the schooner used by the men Curtis met in Virginia waters was in New York harbor within the past two weeks. It is a two-masted vessel.

Condon already has examined thousands of photographs of prisoners or inmates of prisons and psychopathic institutions near New York. Yesterday he visited Westchester County prison at Eastview and Sing Sing Prison at Ossining.

It is doubtful if he found anything conclusive, despite his optimistic statement, for two reasons: His statements always have been optimistic and the search for

CUT IN GOVERNMENT COSTS IS DEMANDED

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—The Ohio Chamber of Commerce, in continuation of its campaign to force a reduction in government expenditures, today replied to a letter from Congressman John L. Cable, setting forth in detail the steps it believed necessary to balance the national budget.

In its reply to Cable's request for specifications, the chamber emphasized that balancing the budget was "the job of congress and of the President," cited reduction in state expenses in Ohio and declared that the state was "asking nothing of Washington that it has not done itself."

The communication charged that "every employee of United States government, from the President down to the most insignificant office boy, has his salary sharply and substantially raised."

It was pointed out that an example had been set by Ohio members of congress who were "quite ready" to take a salary cut.

GIVE 'EM TIME

EMPORIA, Kansas, May 17.—I. E. Peet, Hartford farmer, brought two crows' eggs to Emporia, hoping to collect a bounty thereon and was informed the law had been changed to give rewards only for birds.

He marched back and collected twenty cents bounty.

TWO BILLS SIGNED; GOVERNOR WHITE TO ACCEPT THIRD SOON

Bank Relief Measure And Amendment To Relief Act Signed

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—Governor White today signed two of the three emergency bills passed by the legislature Monday. They were the amendment to the banking laws and the correction in the Espy-Roberts relief bond law. The measures become effective immediately.

Signature of the bill to borrow $750,000 for state office building repairs was expected soon.

The senate and house, convening Monday afternoon, rushed all three bills through as emergency measures, making only minor changes in the drafts proposed by the administration, approved a number of resolutions, and adjourned Monday night.

The measures enacted during the eight-hour session were:

1.—The Scott-Porter act, authorizing the superintendent of banks and liquidators and receivers of closed banks to borrow funds from the federal reconstruction finance corporation or elsewhere, to aid in liquidating or reopening closed Ohio state banks, using assets of such banks as security.

2.—The Taft-Gradsion act, amending the Espy-Roberts relief bond act passed by the March special session, in order to clear up a technical defect in the original measure by postponing the maturity date of bonds issued by counties to finance relief activities.

3.—The Maury-Marshall act, authorizing the state office building commission to issue state certificates of indebtedness in an amount not exceeding $750,000 to repair the damage done to the new $6,000,000 state office building by the explosion of April 14 and to complete the structure.

Originally called for the sole purpose of amending the banking law so that Ohio might benefit from the funds of the reconstruction finance corporation available for the aid of closed banks, the legislators were asked to consider the other legislation in special messages sent to the senate and house after the lawmakers had convened.

Urging the banking law amendment, the governor told the legislators that its enactment would aid business conditions materially throughout the state by releasing to business and industrial channels funds that are now tied up in the "frozen assets" of the closed banks.

The bill, introduced in the sen-

WHITE CALLS COAL MEETING

Will Ask Solons To Discuss Peace

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—State senators and representatives from sixteen counties which comprise the coal producing section of the state were summoned by Governor White to discuss tentative plans of administration designed to accomplish a compromise to settle the coal strike in Ohio.

Main points in the governor's proposal, which has already been accepted in certain of the districts, it was stated, are:

1. A truce for one year on the question of recognition of union.

2. Check-off for check weighmen. No. 3. No reduction in wages.

4. No strikes for one year.

5. Miners not to be required to deal at company stores.

The rate of pay proposed is $3.28 a day. Six cents for cutting and 38 cents for loading.

A committee composed of one miner and one operator working with James Berry, state mine inspector, would administer negotiations.

Hart was sentenced to six months in jail, fined $200 and charged the court costs of $1,056 on an assault and battery charge in connection with a fight in Morrow County in which George Addison was killed.

Recommendations of ten of the trial jurors influenced the governor's decision to commute the sentence, it was revealed.

Prominent Banker Had Been Ill; Former County Officer

John A. Nisbet, 78, president of the Xenia National Bank, and prominently known Xenian, died at his home, 315 W. Market St., Monday night at 10:30 o'clock.

Although he had been in ill health two years suffering from arterio sclerosis and cardiac asthma, Mr. Nisbet had failed rapidly during the past two weeks and had been confined to his room for the last three days. Bronchial pneumonia developed a few hours before his death.

Born in Cedarville April 14, 1854, the son of Samuel and Nancy Nisbet, Mr. Nisbet received his education in the Cedarville schools and came to Xenia in 1888 when he entered the Greene County treasurer's office as a deputy. After serving several years as deputy he was elected county treasurer and served two terms.

Mr. Nisbet then entered the employ of the Xenia National Bank and after serving as assistant cashier for a time was made cashier and held this position for more than eighteen years. He resigned as cashier August 4, 1930.

GROUNDHOGS NOT WORTH SO MUCH

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—Groundhogs—$7.10.

Not a market quotation, but merely a formal reminder in an official report today to State Auditor T. Tracy which, in groundhog language, means that thirteen residents of New Jasper Twp., Greene County, must dig into their jeans for 10 cent pieces.

Groundhog scalps are only worth ten cents each, section 5,284 of the Ohio General Code says.

Assistant State Examiner Leo E. Plymire, reporting to Tracy on township accounts of Greene County, did not disregard this statute.

Noting that in New Jasper Twp., thirteen persons had been paid twenty cents each for killing a total of seventy-one groundhogs between March 1 and Nov. 1, 1931. He applied the statute and recommended collection of $7.10 by the township clerk, representing half the total bounty paid.

TRAIN KILLS FATHER, SON

CAMDEN, O., May 17.—A father and son were killed here today when a Pennsylvania freight train ploughed into a motor truck at a city crossing, catapulting the two victims from their seat in the truck cab.

The dead are Leon Coons, 35, a farmer who lives near Camden, and his 4-year-old son, Leon, Jr.

Both were placed in an ambulance which sped toward Hamilton. The boy died enroute. The father died soon after he was taken into the emergency room of Mercy Hospital in Hamilton.

Who's Who in Washington

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

IN THE FACE of Senator Arthur R. Robinson of Indiana there is a peculiar amiability of expression that is somewhat deceptive. It is not intentionally deceptive, of course.

The fact remains that Senator Robinson does look wonderfully amiable, but he is not so darn amiable when partisan reasons arise for him to be otherwise.

The Hoosier is quite a hand to ask questions at intervals when some senator on the other side of the chamber is addressing the lawmakers. He always does it with the loveliest smile imaginable, and the queries he puts invariably sound so harmless that it has taken a deal of experience with him to teach his fellow legislators how perilous it is to answer them as he obviously expects them to be answered—which is to say, unthinkingly.

The truth is that the solon who does reply so thoughtlessly to the Indiana senator almost certainly finds himself involved immediately thereafter in one sort of argumentative deadfall or another, from which he seldom escapes without serious damage to his logic.

His senatorial associates have learned, with time, to be mighty suspicious of that sticky-fly-paper sweetness in the Hoosier statesman's tones, as he rises to propound a query, but he still catches one of them with it occasionally. It is almost irresistible.

COMMITTEE WORKS HARD

Enjoys Fishing Trip To Minnesota At Government Expense To Study Wild Life

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Taxpayers out in the country who are grumbling about extravagance at Washington possibly do not understand the situation.

For instance, they may not realize how hard a committee of senators has to work sometimes.

There is the special senate committee on wild life—animal, not human—which is slaving away and right now is trying to get $10,000 more out of the senate contingent fund to keep it alive through the coming fishing season.

After seeing how this committee has worked in the past, there is little doubt but that the senate economy committee which is now trying to squeeze useless expenditures out of the federal budget will give the wild life committee what it ought to have, even if it means taking a few idle relatives off the payroll.

Senate expense accounts, like the family names on the congressional payroll, are kept secret until they become obsolete. So while we are waiting for the seal of secrecy to be removed from the expense accounts of the committee's "big bear hunt" in Alaska last summer, we may see the weary senators hard at work with rod and reel in the Minnesota lakes in the summer of 1930.

There were three senators and two secretaries. The senators were Walcott, Republican, Connecticut; Pittman, Democrat, Nevada; and Hawes, Democrat, Missouri.

With all of the care and foresight of Admiral Byrd setting out for the south pole, the senatorial committee assembled the equipment needed for its investigation of wild life in the Minnesota lakes. This included guides, porters, a can of minnows for which a charge of seventy-five cents was finally put through the senate disbursing office, as was the fifteen-cent charge for a notebook in which the expenses of the committee were listed so that none of the senators would fail to be reimbursed upon returning to Washington.

And here are some of the things the little notebook said—all eventually paid for through the senate disbursing clerk:

Senator Walcott's guide (three days and tip) $20.

Senator Pittman's guide, (three days and tip), $20.

Senator Hawes' guide, (five days and tip), $30.

Guide for Mr. Shoemaker, special investigator for committee, $13.50.

Boat hire, $107.50.

Tent, four days, $3.00.

Baggage truck, $5.

Three sinkers, fifteen cents.

Mineral water, $40.50.

Glasses, seventy-five cents.

"Soda to take on boat, $2." (This fisherman's old guide says he never uses soda, but others say it is

Home Band Warmly Received Monday In Annual Concert For Public Here

THE CADET BAND which stands among the first of the student organizations representing the O. S. and S. O. Home, presented its eighth annual public concert before a large audience in the Home High School Auditorium, Monday night.

An entertaining instrumental program was given, supplemented by the girls' octet of the institution and feature numbers by four guest artists, Marcus Shoup, violinist; and the Misses Eleanor McDonnell, soprano; Juanita Rankin, pianist, and Lois Street, cellist.

The band has received recognition as one of the best boys' bands in the state and its services are so in demand for public celebrations and other special occasions that it has always been found impossible to grant all requests.

The organization embarks Tuesday night on a four-day tour of the state, playing concerts at Dayton, Delta, Sandusky and Ironton.

During the past few years the band has been on the programs of all state and some national conventions of veteran organizations. Last year, while playing at the national convention of the Grand Army of the Republic in Cincinnati, the band had the honor of being conducted by Captain Taylor Branson, conductor of the United States Marine Band. Later the cadets were the guests of the Marine Band at its evening concert.

From forty competing musical organizations, the cadet band was one of two chosen to play for the dedication of the Soldiers' bridge in Dayton. It also played at the dedicatory exercises for the Harding Memorial at Marion.

Not only has the band received honors within the boundaries of Ohio, but it possesses a valued trophy, a silver loving cup, which it received as first prize at Atlantic City. In 1928 the band played at the sesqui-centennial in Philadelphia; and it represented Ohio in the memorial exercises at the unveiling of the monument at the grave of the unknown soldier in Arlington Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

For three consecutive years the band played at the Ohio State Fair. Last year it traveled over Ohio on a one-week concert tour and a similar trip will be taken this week. Wherever it is heard the band receives appreciative ovations and sincere commendation for the superior quality of its performance.

The excellence of the program presented Monday night is due in a large measure to the skill and talent of the director, Harold E. Seall, who has trained the Home Band for a number of years. The task of maintaining a musical organization of high standing at the home is made especially difficult for him through the necessity of virtually reorganizing and rebuilding the personnel each year.

Many of the best trained players leave the school at graduation time and their places must be filled by recruits at the beginning of the following school year.

Thirty-six boys, ranging in ages from 11 to 16, comprise the band this year, and of this number nine are members of the discharge class at the institution.

The nine to be discharged in June are Murray Jones, Abraham Rowe, Thomas O'Brien, James Bower, Cornelius Malone, Edwin Schneider, Elmer Wooten, Thorne Moffat and George Gates. Lieut. Gates is an especially talented trumpet player. Murray Jones is drum major of the band.

HOW TO PLANT SHRUBS

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Garden Experts for Central Press and The Gazette.

"Don't you think I need a background for my flowers?" my neighbor asked me.

"You really should have one," I replied. "Even if it is only a background of native shrubs or ornamental ones which thrive hereabouts. There are two ways of planting shrubs. One way is merely digging a hole, sticking in the shrub, then throwing the earth back around it.

The other, and correct way, involves preparing a bed for the shrubs. To do this excavate the total area where shrubs are to be planted to a depth of about twelve inches. Remove rocks or stones. Next spread a layer of well rotted manure to a depth of two or three inches, then add about six inches of good topsoil. Mix the two together. Then fill the excavation level with or slightly above the lawn.

Pruning the outer branches of shrubs at the time of transplanting is to remove dead branches or irregular ones and establish a better balance between the branch growth and that of the roots.

A thorough soaking once a week in the absence of rain is the best way to water shrubs. Very little cultivation is required for most shrubs, and if the bed has been prepared as suggested above, little fertilizer will be required.

START BUILDING OF NURSERY SOON

Construction work on the $125,000 nursery building at the O. S. and S. O. Home is expected by officials of the institution to be started shortly by the Hawkins Construction Co., Newark, O., which has the general contract.

The structure, designed to accommodate 100 of the youngest children at the institution, will be a brick building, one story in height, which will spread over a considerable area. In reality it will be six separate but connected cottages with playground facilities for the children.

CERTAIN PERSON IS UNDER SUSPICION; JURY PROBE STARTS

"John" went on today. Condon never had a clear, undimmed view of "John's" face by daylight, despite his earlier statements to the effect that he "could pick his man in a thousand." Negotiations were at night and "John" was secretive as could be under the circumstances. Condon, however, declares he would recognize his voice.

Therefore, under the bright shadow casting lights, the daily roundup of prisoners parades at police headquarters, where Condon hoped to find his man. Each prisoner answers questions put by members of the detective force, and each answer is spoken into a microphone, enabling detectives to recognize by eye or ear.

A handwriting expert's decision on whether the writers of the original ransom note to Lindbergh also wrote the notes received by Condon was expected soon. The expert is J. V. Haring at Winter Haven, Fla. He was employed in the Hall-Mills case and the Starr Faithfull case, both unsolved, and recently in the tragedy surrounding Mrs. Keith-Miller, aviator.

There were no other developments during the night, except further denial of scores of wild rumors which first got under way during the period in which rigid restrictions on publication of facts in the kidnapping investigation were imposed by Governor A. Harry Moore.

Federal, state and county officials were co-operating today under general direction of Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, in general charge of all police work; Prosecutor Erwin Marshall of Mercer County, in charge of the prosecution; and J. Edgar Hoover, in charge of the department of justice, in charge of co-ordinating federal activities.

Schwarzkopf held the support of the governor in conference yesterday despite severe criticism of the conduct of the kidnapping investigation. A letter from Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh expressing high appreciation for police efforts and praise for police conduct of the investigation was exhibited.

Treasury officials at Washington have renewed their request that banks the nation over check carefully in an attempt to find the $50,000 Condon paid the self-styled kidnapers. The request was in the mails today.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Coast guard headquarters today announced the following description of the "phantom" ship wanted in the Lindbergh case has been broadcast to all coast guard vessels and bases:

"Length, approximately eighty feet; beam unknown; draft nine feet; simple Gloucester rig, six foot bow sprit; hull painted dark green; two spars painted buff; trunk cabin aft; side cabin house freeboard aft, five and one half feet; engine 250 horse power, Fairbanks Morse; gas carried on deck; square tank boat about ten years old.

The description said the ship has a crew of about five men and may carry the following name plates: "Evelyn Batten, Theresa Salvatore, William A. Morse and Ella Brisson."

The vessel was last reported seen off Cape May about two weeks ago. Coast guard officials said the vessel with the aid of auxiliary sails, could easily cross the Atlantic.

The coast guard fleet of more than seventy-five ships—several small patrol boats having been added yesterday—is still massed off the coast of New Jersey and a careful search continues around Long Island, officials said.

The fact that the vessel may carry the name plate Salvatore or Ella Brisson has led officials to believe the ship may be a foreign craft. In the event that this is true and coast guard vessels locate the boat officers in charge have been ordered to follow the vessel to Europe.

The treasury department today mailed 23,000 letters to banks and financial institutions asking renewed vigilance in watching for the $50,000 ransom paid by Col. Lindbergh through Dr. J. F. Condon.

What is the PRICE OF BEAUTY?

Without health there can be little natural beauty. The wise woman knows that the condition of her body shows itself on her face, her complexion, and in her eyes.

She takes care to avoid constipation. This treacherous ailment frequently causes headaches, sallow skin, pimples, premature aging.

Try the pleasant "cereal way" to protect yourself from constipation. Science has proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron, which helps build up the blood.

The "bulk" in this delicious cereal is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than abusing your system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming!

Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

TENOR WILL GIVE CONCERT IN XENIA

Signor Cappelli

Signor Mario Cappelli, Italian-American tenor, will appear in concert here at the First M. E. Church, Tuesday evening, May 24 at 8 o'clock, under auspices of the Gleaners' Class of that church.

The singer was born in the United States of Italian parentage and is said to be one of the world's outstanding artists. Cappelli was taken to Italy at the age of 3 and began singing operatic selections at the age of 8. Two years later he was awarded a prize at the Musical Academy of Caserta for his singing.

The late Caruso was Cappelli's inspiration and commentators who have been able to make the comparison declared that the personal contact that Cappelli enjoyed with Caruso is reflected in his personality and technique. Cappelli idolized Caruso and on one occasion is said to have ridden a freight train 360 miles and stood in line eleven hours to hear the great singer. He showed similar heroism to meet the great singer and Cappelli's career dates from that meeting.

TWO BILLS SIGNED; GOVERNOR WHITE TO ACCEPT THIRD SOON

ate by Senator Milton J. Scott (R), Chillicothe, chairman of the banking committee, was approved in both legislative chambers without an opposing vote. The senate vote was twenty-nine to nothing, and the house vote was 101 to nothing. The emergency clause, making it operative as law as soon as signed by the governor, was approved in the senate by vote of twenty-nine to nothing, and in the house by vote of 111 to nothing.

The house amended the bill only to the extent of adding to the title the name of Rep. Howard D. Porter (R), Cincinnati, who sponsored it on the floor in that chamber. The Taft-Gradison act corrects an oversight in the relief bond law enacted by the previous special session by changing from 1933 to 1934 the first maturity date of county bonds issued under the provisions of the Espy-Roberts law. The change was deemed advisable because the first year's revenue from the increase in the utility excise tax, which is to be used to redeem such bonds, cannot be collected until after Dec. 15, 1933, and might not be distributed to the counties for a period of several weeks.

Senator Robert A. Taft (R), Cincinnati, introduced the corrective amendment in the senate, and the bill was approved by both legislative bodies without an opposing vote. The senate vote was twenty-nine to nothing, and the house vote was 107 to nothing. The house amended the title to include the name of Rep. Willis D. Gradison (R), Cincinnati, who sponsored the measure in that body.

Path of the bill to authorize the issuance of certificates of indebtedness to finance the repairing and completion of the new state office building was not as smooth as that of the other two administration measures. Introduced in the house by Rep. S. B. Maury (D), Monroe County, the bill encountered strong opposition Monday afternoon in that body, passing by a vote of only seventy-four to thirty-six, receiving thirteen votes less than necessary for its approval as emergency legislation.

The senate, however, wrote the emergency clause back into the bill and passed it by a vote of twenty-five to nothing, approving the emergency clause itself by vote of twenty-six to nothing.

In the meantime supporters of the bill in the house had succeeded in converting a number of the representatives who had voted "no" in that body and had rounded up some additional votes, so that when the amended bill returned to the house the amendment restoring the emergency clause was approved by vote of ninety to five, receiving three more votes than necessary for adoption.

Passage of the measure had been urged by Governor White in a special message stating the "public interest of the state requires that funds be made available" for the restoration and completion of the office building.

The governor included in his message a communication from the office building commission reciting that contractors on the building have refused to make the necessary repairs on the damage caused by the explosion and that unless funds were made available the building would stand in its present condition, uncompleted, for a long period of time pending court action to enforce the state's claims against the contractors, their bondsmen or others responsible for the explosion and resultant damage.

The governor's message also included a communication from Attorney General Gilbert Bettman asserting that the state's rights against parties responsible for the damage have been fully protected and would in no way be jeopardized by the appropriation of funds for the rehabilitation and completion of the building.

Rep. Martin E. Blum (R), Cleveland, led the fight against the bill in the house. Declaring he had been in the building half an hour after the disaster, Blum asserted that "I won't call it an explosion, for in my opinion the inside of that

MIND RECOILS

Discovery of the body of the kidnaped infant son of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh uncovers a picture of brutality and heartlessness which makes the mind recoil with a horrified shudder. It is difficult to endure the thought that in this United States today, human beings can perform such acts in cold blood and with deliberation. Yet they have. They do. They will, unless something is done to check them.

Since facts are as they are, perhaps in years to come, the Lindbergh parents may find a certain relief in a definite knowledge of what happened to their first born. But for the moment this is poor comfort. And throughout the nation at large the finding of the pitiful remains ought to produce a determination that such things shall not be tolerated any longer.

At this writing, it appears possible that the kidnaping and subsequent murder may have been the work of vicious morons either working as agents for Gangland or impelled by more personal motives. The prevalence near the Lindbergh home of the type of human being which produces brutish criminals makes this quite possible.

An alternative not to be discarded in the absence of evidence to the contrary, is the possibility that the abductors were professional criminals who may not have intended to kill in the first place, but who became frightened at what they had done and disposed of their victim at the first opportunity. Frequently the professional gangster yields nothing in savagery and callousness to the New Guinea cannibal.

And whatever may have been the circumstances of the Lindbergh crime, it stands as an awful expression of the results of unbridled and unpunished outlaws in America today.

Amid the uncertainties this too is certain: Heartless and unscrupulous extortioners have for weeks and months been undertaking to make money out of the agony of Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh and out of the sympathy of their friends, by engaging in a hideous "racket." They have deliberately and maliciously raised false hopes in order to extort large sums of money from the frantic parents by using methods which make the ways of a cat with a mouse seem noble and gentle by contrast. Some have even gone so far as to try to inveigle or coerce the Government into making concessions to crime and criminals as the price of aid they knew they could not deliver. That was a new departure in effrontery even in the United States.

It is difficult to decide which is the more monstrous, the actual crime of stealing and killing the Lindbergh boy or the efforts, in some cases unfortunately successful, to capitalize it through shameless and heartless racketeering. The extent to which the latter was undertaken provides an appalling glimpse of the way in which the worst sort of criminality has eaten its way into the American social structure. The discovery should produce a reaction that will sweep the Country clear of the leering crime infesting it.

RECENT DISCOVERY

A story from London regarding discoveries by two archaeologists, Father Alexis Mallon and Father Robert Koepf, at the reputed sites of wicked Sodom and equally wicked Gomorrah north of the Dead Sea, says that "on the plain below the hill on which the cities stood, there was a curious rock formation about five feet high which legend associates with Lot's wife."

Truly we live in a prosaic and cautious age. Rabbi Benjamin, of Tudela, who flourished in the latter part of the Twelfth century and wandered for some 13 years throughout the Orient, made no such prudent observations in discussing the remains of Mrs. Lot. He told a much more sprightly story.

"From the valley of Jehoshaphat, the traveler immediately ascends the Mount of Olives as the valley only intervenes between the City and the Mount," said that worthy in narrating his adventures. "From here, the Dead Sea is distinctly visible. Two parasangs from the sea stands the Salt pillar into which Lot's wife was metamorphosed; and although the pillar continually lick it, the pillar grows again and retains its original shape."

Rabbi Benjamin did not say whether the direct knowledge he possessed of the location, appearance and miraculous durability of the Pillar of Salt was obtained by studying it from the top of Olivet, but we suspect that it was. For he was an honest man, and unless the character of the region north of the Dead Sea has changed remarkably since his day, the sight of sheep feeding throughout it, would have been almost as miraculous as the preservation of Lot's lagging spouse in her saline sarcophagus. The region is not one which lends itself to the support of either animal or vegetable life. Sir H. Rider Haggard, who visited it something more than 30 years ago, reported that the only creatures which survived and thrived in the climate were the tetanus germs.

But at least Rabbi Benjamin told a bangup good story. It seems to have been one of several specially reserved for curious travelers by the natives of the district.

USE FOR CRIMINALS

A delegate to the American Medical Association's convention in New Orleans advocates the use of condemned criminals for experimentation in vaccine against yellow fever. Criminals who survived the experiments would be pardoned. Those who died, if any, would only cheat the galleys or the electric chair.

The idea is not new. Condemned felons have been used in Europe at times for purposes of experimentation. Offers have been made to men under the shadow of the gallows in this Country, with a view of obtaining their permission to inoculate them with the germs of dread disease. The choice between quick death and the probability of a slow and painful death is not easy for a human being to make, with only the possibility of freedom to aid in the decision, a freedom the value of which would be notably depreciated by any unpleasant physical effects the experiments might leave behind them.

Compulsory experimental vaccination of condemned criminals might come under the Constitutional prohibition of "cruel and unusual punishments." Voluntary submission to such vaccination is another matter. Science might benefit from it. The chief danger to society would be that, if the practice of permitting murderers to purchase their freedom by submitting to experiments that were not fatal to them was widely adopted, another loophole through which to escape from their just deserts would be furnished a class of citizens already more than sufficiently provided with technicalities to beat the law.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK. — From a columnist's record:

Maybe I'm wrong, but when an author or actor begins to smooth his feathers in the glow of temporary fame, becoming a professional attendant of first nights and a professional taker-of-bows in the night places, Old Man Eclipse is at his elbow. . . . Pathetic to see the big shots of year - before-last, sitting on the edges of their chairs as the master of ceremonies plucks notables from the audience. . . . How they beam when his memory is good!

They tell me an hour's tardiness of a star at the beginning of a heavy day's shooting costs the studio on an average of $2,500. . . . Little Irony No. 7565: I remember when a Washington, D. C., pastor, some years ago said: "Douglas McLean's name will be blazing in lights long after names like Fatty Arbuckle have been relegated to oblivion. Doug leads a clean life, and that counts with an actor as it does with anyone else whose success would be lasting!"

Doug is fairly successful, I hear, as a director, but many of the younger generation would look blank at mention of his name. . . . Arbuckle is making a tour of the vaudeville circuit and seeing his name in lights once more. . . . Proving that not even the best prophecies hold water in the loony realm of footlights and Kilgus lights. . . .

Four o'clock of a Manhattan afternoon is always somehow tinged with sadness. . . . On the highest buildings you can smell the green of the country now. . . . It seems that whenever I venture toward the other side of the Island I get bogged in a parade. . . . Hope I don't get a parade complex to add to the other psychic upsets. . . .

COMPLEAT TRICKSTER

What a curious story that is about the way Connecticut fishermen get worms for bait. . . . They put steel rods in the ground, wired to batteries. . . . The current flows between them, and the worms, thinking a storm is on, wriggle to the surface—where they are pounced upon by the anglers, waiting around like eager robins. . . . Ho, hum! . . . Living on this barren rock it gets hard to imagine people actually going fishing in real streams. . . . Dozing under honest-to-goodness trees, not the faintly theatrical park springs familiar to Madhattanites. . . .

Major Jimmy Walker looks tired these days, and worried. . . . Once or twice he has been known to fumble for the old-time lightning rope. . . . But he never misses an important fight night. . . . The producers, making out their opening lists, put down his name and then work down through the critics. . . .

Julia Sanderson, of the air team of Crummit and Sanderson, has had her name in the papers three times—for holding royal flushes in friendly poker games. . . . Mary McCoy, of the flickers, was born in South Bend, Kas. . . . The Aswell Touch is everywhere even on the pockets of his friends; yesterday a letter arrived with the information that a new book will be called "Hop, Skip and Jump."

Callippus, an astronomer of the fourth century B. C., discovered the error in the Metonic Cycle of 19 years, and substituted a cycle of 76 years.

JUST ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY

REVENGE IS CONSIDERED MOST PROBABLE MOTIVE IN LINDBERGH TRAGEDY

WASHINGTON.—Dr. E. E. Dudding, founder and head of the Prisoners' Relief Society, whose underworld acquaintance perhaps surpasses that of any other man in the country, accepts the finding of the Lindbergh baby's body as verification of a theory he has expressed from the first—that the kidnaping was at least as likely to prove an act of revenge as an attempt to extort ransom.

"Fantastic as the idea may seem," the doctor told me only a day or two after the crime was committed, "the colonel has many bitter enemies. . . . Jealousy is, of course, their inspiration. . . . To make this frame of mind clear let me quote a conversation I had with one of my own charges directly following the theft of the baby. . . .

"The individual I mention could not possibly indeed have been connected with the Lindbergh atrocity. He saw service, however, in France during the war, as an aviator. Back home and demobilized he served a prison term for an offense of which I am not sure."

"He would not feel the revenge impulse. . . . Even an enemy of our present social order would be moved rather to assassination of the head of some great aggregation of wealth than to the theft of his infant child. In fact the revolutionary type of outlaw generally prides himself upon his lack of personal animus."

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE FISHER'S WIDOW

The boats go out and the boats come in
Under the wintry sky;
And the rain and foam are white in the wind,
And the white gulls cry.

She sees the sea when the wind is swept
By a windy rain;
And her heart's a-weary of sea and land,
As the long days wane.

She sees the torn sails fly in the foam,
Broad on the sky-line gray;
And the boats go out and the boats come in,
But there's one away.

ALL of US

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Husbands Are Strange People Who Drop Babies, Forget Things, Can't Stand Being Laughed At.

Husbands are people who—Don't know how to play with a child without hurting it. Insist that the rest of the family "see a doctor," but think they, themselves, are immortal.

Break a five dollar bill and never can remember what they did with the change.

Refuse to eat foods like spinach and eggplant unless they insist that the children eat everything that's at before them. Make a lot of jokes about what they'll do when the family leaves town, but are lonesome all the time the family is away. Can't remember where they put their keys.

Are very little use in a garden. Wonder why a woman is so tired after an afternoon of shopping.

Correct the children at just the wrong time.

Never can understand why wives should go to any "extra trouble" when friends come to dinner.

Don't believe that women are good judges of other women's character.

Have more ups and downs than a scenic railway and dozens of vague and contradictory ideas about married life.

Wish the women wouldn't laugh at the men so much. Laugh at themselves, when they are in a mellow mood, but resent all criticism when they don't feel like being criticised.

Need wives to remind them that they need new shirts. Rarely think of themselves as husbands.

based on his study of his fellow inmates of the Moundsville, W. He has written a book on it in biographical form—"The Trail of the Dead Years"—to appear some time in the future. Moreover," Dr. Dudding adds, "it is curable in most cases."

However fanciful the germ, criminologists defer to the doctor's practical knowledge of actual criminals.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT
Broiled Chopped Meat Cakes
Boiled Potatoes
Green Onions Asparagus
Lemon Snow or Pineapple Rice
Milk
Tea

Where there are several children in the family there is the problem of suitable desserts for them. Every child has a sweet tooth, and a certain amount of sweet food is good for them. The two desserts given here are suitable for them.

Today's Recipes

Lemon Snow.—One tablespoon gelatin, one-fourth cup cold water, one cup boiling water, three-fourths cup sugar, one-fourth cup lemon juice, one-fourth teaspoon grated lemon rind, two egg whites, salt. Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Add boiling water and sugar and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice and grated lemon rind and set aside to chill. When the jelly starts to congeal beat with a rotary egg beater until light and frothy. Beat egg whites and fold into gelatin mixture. Turn into molds rinsed with cold water and chill thoroughly. Remove from molds, pour a soft custard sauce over the snow and surround with perfect strawberries.

Pineapple Rice.—Cook one-half cup rice in four cups boiling salted water. Drain thoroughly and cool. Into it stir one cup crushed pineapple and two tablespoons sugar. Chill and just before serving fold in three-fourths cup cream whipped stiff. Turn into serving glasses and garnish with fresh strawberries or pour crushed sweetened berries over the pineapple rice mixture.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Preparedness

For the guests who are likely to drop in unexpectedly and stay to chat, maybe to play cards, and to have a bite to eat—a "midnight snack"—have an emergency shelf of canned and boxed foods that the family is not allowed to touch. Shrimps, sardines, crab meat, lobster, for salads or to cream and serve over crackers; a few boxes of sweet biscuits or cookies, packaged cheese, a bottle or two of olives, pickles, also fruit which can be made at a moment's notice into a salad or fruit cup. All these and many more will give the hostess an unworried evening to devote to her guests, knowing that she can get up an appetizing little lunch at a moment's notice.

Calotype was a name applied to one of the earliest processes for producing photographic prints as well as to the prints themselves.

Tattoo Mark Can Be Removed

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

If you want a permanent Cupid's bow on your lips or permanently pink cheeks, there are plenty of professional tattooers who will guarantee to give them to you. It is possible, of course, that the cheeks will be a little too pink and that the Cupid's bow put on when you are 20 will not look exactly like a bow when you are 50. But that has always been the trouble with tattooing. The tattoo is put on for good and for all time. You cannot change, but not the tattoo. A fellow of 30 has two hearts and a "Nellie" tattooed on his arm, and then marries a girl named "Agnes." And every time he washes his hands, or the weather turns warm and he takes off his shirt, there is the proof of his youthful bad taste breaking up the domestic harmony. I know a fellow whose whole life was embittered and he had to fork over thousands of dollars because his wife found out she could get his goat by saying, "What do you think Nellie would say if she could see you now?"

Curious incidents are related about tattooing. A French criminal was about to be executed when a tattoo mark was found on his neck which read, "Executioner, cut on the dotted line."

The back is a favorite place for tattooers. I furnish a grand canvas for illustrations on the heavily pink cheeks, there are plenty of professional tattooers who will guarantee to give them to you. It is possible, of course, that the cheeks will be a little too pink and that the Cupid's bow put on when you are 20 will not look exactly like a bow when you are 50. Many methods have been employed to remove tattooing. Often they are painful and disfiguring. For instance, a red hot iron has been used to cauterize the spot. This results in a scar quite as unsightly as the tattoo mark. Carbolic and nitric acid and other such methods are employed by professional tattoo removers—all of questionable safety. However, there are a number of scientific and safe methods of tattoo removal. There are three general methods of safe and conservative removal, according to Dr. Marvin D. Shile of the United States Public Health Service—surgery, electrolysis, and chemical. Surgery is applicable only to small or to long, thin marks. Chemical methods, according to Dr. Shile, are just as certain and less painful or tedious than the electric ones.

Husband "Steps Out"

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a married man 37 years old and my wife is 35. We have been married 10 years and we were always happy together until the last few months."

"My wife was out of town on a visit last summer and while she was gone another fellow and I took two women to a show and to have a nice time. A few weeks ago my wife found this out."

"My wife used to love and kiss me and I know she thought the world of me, and I know she has been a true and faithful wife to me and I love her dearly and don't want to lose her or break up my home. We have no children. She is very cool toward me and tells me that I should leave her. She hardly talks to me and she is no longer happy with me. She told my sister that she is going to divorce me as soon as she finds a job."

"Oh, Miss Lee, can you help me? I am very sorry for what I did and would give anything in the world to change it. It would kill me if I had to give her up and break up my home as there is not another woman in the world I care for but her. Oh, Virginia tell me how to treat my wife and what to do so she won't divorce me. I will never cheat again."

A CHEAT.
You will have to give your wife time to recover from the shock of finding that the man she loved would "step out" on her. It will take time. You can imagine your own pleasant feelings if she had been the one to cheat when you were absent from home.

Don't try to be affectionate with her or expect her to go out with you until she has time to get over the effects somewhat. She probably feels right now that she never can trust you again. Interest yourself in your job, in a garden, in anything that comes up that takes your mind when at home, and don't say anything more about being sorry for what you did, as you have probably cheated again. A TRUE LOVER: Don't say anything to this girl who calls your boy friend up over the phone. Boys usually don't care to be pursued in that manner, and if you speak she will think you are jealous, and it wouldn't do any good.

JUST ANOTHER: I think it is natural and certainly customary for a young man who is very much in love with a girl who loves him to act as you do, Just Another. And of course it is permissible for you to kiss each other good night.

Fat No Subject For Jest

By GLADYS GLAD

Folk wisecrack about it now and then. About reducing I mean. A well-known radio broadcaster, for instance, laughingly says that women who are afflicted with fat should try regular massaging with a window sash weight or a piece of lead. And another smartie has it that the really best exercise for reducing is a side to side motion of the head when fat-tending foods are offered.

Personally, however, I don't think that reducing is at all a subject for jest. There have been far too many suicides that have resulted from improper methods to make the subject at all humorous. As a matter of fact, that's what has me worried just now. For most girls are thinking of the nearing beach bathing season. And a good many of them, I'm afraid, may be tempted to undertake dubious reducing methods in an effort to regain slender figure lines in very snappy fashion.

In my opinion, the safest and most effective way to lose weight is by proper exercising and sane dieting. A reducing course as well planned as the one in my "New Figure" booklet, for instance, would certainly be speedy enough in its results, and yet would be safe from the health standpoint. But some of these freak diets that claim to bring about miraculously speedy results can prove exceedingly harmful. For usually they restrict the bodily requirements far too greatly, and can seriously undermine the health.

A good many drugs and pills, too, are very dangerous when tak-ed internally for reducing purposes. Perhaps they do reduce weight. But it's because they disturb the processes of digestion and assimilation so that little benefit is derived from any foods eaten. And it is not safe this to disturb digestion and assimilation. Thyroid extract is also dangerous for the average woman to take unless a competent medical man has endorsed its taking and advised its proper dosage. In a normally healthy body, where diet is properly controlled and exercise reasonably indulged in, Nature properly adjusts body weight without the use of artificial stimulation.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES
Permanent
Anxious: If your hair seems too thick, you can indeed have it thinned before the permanent. A medium bob would probably be best.

Gooseflesh
Peg and Blondie: Scrub the rough, goosey skin nightly with a pure soap and tepid water, using a flesh brush. After the scrubbing, massage cold cream or olive oil generously into the skin.

Mouth
Shella: Apply a heavy coating of camphor ice, cold cream or lanolin to your mouth corners nightly before retiring. Try to keep a bit of grease on them during the daytime. This should help to eliminate the cracking.

Superfluous Hair
M. C.: If you bleach the hair on your face light enough with a mixture of two teaspoons of peroxide and half a teaspoon of household ammonia, it will not be noticeable.

Colors
Miss Jean: I think that a soft ochre shade of powder, soft orange rouge and vivid lipstick would be best for you. You should find shades of tan, brown, burnt orange, dark reds, gray and green becoming.

End of the first three weeks of play in the National Softball League finds Lou McCoy, catcher for Coate's Barbers, and Harold "Polly" Parrett, shortstop for the Downtowners, sharing the league batting leadership.

McCoy and Parrett have each been legally at bat nine times and have each pounded out five hits for a mighty .555 average in the three games they have played.

Nineteen National League softball players have batting marks of .300 or better. Three of them are hitting at .500 clips, five are in the semi-exclusive .400 class and eleven comprise the select .300 circle. Here is a list of the .300 hitters:

Player	AB.	R.	H.	Pct.
McCoy (Coate's)	9	3	5	.555
Parrett (D. T. C.)	9	3	5	.555
Stephens (S. Val.)	10	1	5	.500

Wilson (D. T. C.)	10	2	3	.300
Ruse (Langs)	10	3	3	.300
Corr (Langs)	10	1	3	.300

Winner of only one game in three starts (as of last week), Coate's Barbers are nevertheless the proud possessors of the best team batting average in the league.

The Barbers have a team hitting mark of .247, followed by Anderson's Abattoirs with their .238 average.

Most surprising, perhaps, is the fact that Spring Valley, which has lost three straight games, has the third best team average of .229. The champion Lang Chevroleters are next with .224, followed by the Xenia Chick Hatchery with .210. The Downtowner team brings up the rear of the procession with a mere .193 average.

Here are the total times at bat, runs scored and hits made by each team:

Team	AB.	R.	H.	Pct.
Coate's	113	14	24	.247
Anderson's	113	18	27	.238

REDS ARE SURPRISE TEAM; NEW PLAYERS MAKE WINNING NINE

Hitting Is Feature Of Cincinnati's Reversal

CINCINNATI, O., May 17.—One year can make a mountain of difference in the fortunes of a major league baseball club. For proof, review the case of the Cincinnati Reds, who are five runs higher on the National League ladder than they were on May 17, 1931.

Twelve months ago today the Reds were in last place in the old baseball circuit, with five games won and eighteen lost. Today Redlegs have seventeen victories against fifteen defeats, and have a firm grip on third place.

During the 1931 season the Cincinnati Reds won only fifty-eight games while losing ninety-six. Early in May they were counted out of the pennant race and never rose above their lowly surroundings. As the 1932 race swings into mid-May, the Reds are among the four outstanding contenders in the wide-open pennant skirmish.

Although still a good many percentage points behind the leading Chicago Cubs, the Cincinnati team can find solace in the fact that the world champion St. Louis Cardinals are more than a game beneath the Cincinnati standing.

A veteran pitcher with a steered arm and three great batsmen who are wearing the Cincinnati garb for the first time have been largely responsible for the dazzling rise of the Reds.

Charles "Red" Lucas, one of the National League's best hurlers, turned in a three-hit performance against the New York Giants Monday for his sixth triumph of the season. He has been beaten once, Silas Johnson is the only other Cincinnati pitcher to have won more games than he has lost this year, holding four wins and three losses.

The necessary batting punch has been furnished by Charles "Chick" Hafey, obtained from the Cardinals, and Babe Herman and Ernie Lombardi, acquired as part of the big trade with Brooklyn. Hafey and Herman are outfielders and Lombardi a catcher.

Hafey is angling for his second successive National League batting championship and certainly has taken a perfect start. He has been at bat seventy-eight times, has hit safely thirty-three times and has scored seventeen runs for a .423 average. His stick work includes eight doubles and two triples.

For five straight seasons prior to this year, Hafey has hit better than .300. His averages for those years follow: 1927, .330; 1928, .337; 1929, .339; 1930, .336; 1931, .349.

Lombardi has been the surprise of the Red camp, although he has been laid up a good share of the time with an injured finger. He is leading his club in hitting, with a grand average of .459. In forty-five official times at bat, he has poked out twenty-two hits and scored eleven runs. To his credit are two home runs, three triples and six doubles.

Herman has been hitting consistently. His average to date is only .314 but his slugging has helped the Reds out of many pinches. Besides three home runs, he has pounded four three-baggers and ten doubles.

FIRST SOFTBALL GAME POSTPONED

Adverse weather finally caught up with Xenia softball competition and resulted in the first postponement of the current season Monday night.

After three weeks of continuous play during which fifteen straight games were staged, a drenching rain forced cancellation Monday evening of a scheduled National League contest between Coate's Barbers and the Downtowner Country Club.

The postponed engagement will be played off as the second half of a double-header when these two teams meet June 29 in the second round of play.

The first double-header of the season will take place Tuesday night at Cox Field between Company L, National Guard, and Central High School. Two seven inning games will be played, the twin encounter made necessary by the fact the Bucs and the militia waged a 2 to 2 tie in the first round of play.

COMPANY WILL HOLD SPRING FESTIVAL

The Greene County Lumber Co., 570 N. Detroit St., has set aside Friday for its annual "Spring Festival" when elaborate exhibits of building materials and many special events will feature a one-day program.

The festival will open at 2 p. m. and a program of entertainment will continue until 10 p. m. with many surprises in store for visitors. Souvenirs for all and many valuable prizes to be given away.

The program is arranged to entertain friends and patrons of the company and not as a special sales effort, according to C. W. Murphy, manager. The public is invited, but children must be accompanied by their parents. The exhibits will be set up in the store and yard of the company.

ORGANIZE TEAM

A softball team organized to represent the new Kilcare Park Club, Dayton-Xenia Pike, on the diamond this summer, desires to book Sunday afternoon contests with teams in and near Xenia. The games will be played at Kilcare Park. Teams wishing to play the Kilcare Park Club are asked to notify C. E. Snell, 10 Queen St., this city.

CURTIS CONFESSES HIS ACTIVITIES IMAGINARY

(BULLETIN)
TRENTON, N. J., May 17.—John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk boat builder, today confessed that his activities in the Lindbergh kidnaping negotiations were figments of his imagination. Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf of the state police announced.

A police bulletin this afternoon said: "At 4 o'clock this morning John H. Curtis sat down to a typewriter and himself wrote a complete confession concerning his activities in the case. He stated that the boat and all the people to whom he had been referring were creations of his own mind and do not exist in fact."

Thus there came to light the second of the cruel hoaxes practiced on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in connection with the kidnaping of his baby, Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. Curtis had told of a ship with kidnapers aboard and went into detail as to negotiations designed to bring about the return of the child.

Painting with the imagination of a dramatist Curtis had told of weeks of "negotiations" with the "kidnapers." Lindbergh, at first skeptical, had succumbed to the story that Curtis told and had gone aboard a boat which was to contact the phantom ship and was to get back his child.

NINE CONGRESSMEN FROM OHIO LISTED FOR BEER MEASURE

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Despite the sweeping victory of wet candidates for major political offices in the recent Ohio primary, indications were today that a majority of the state congressional delegation will vote against bringing up a bill to legalize and tax 2.75 per cent beer.

Only nine of Ohio's twenty-two congressmen, five Democrats and four Republicans, signed the petitions to call up the O'Connor-Hull bill providing a tax of three cents a pint on beer for a vote in the house next Monday. Prospects were that the Ohio line up will be thirteen votes against and nine for the measure.

The nine Ohioans who signed the petition to force a vote on discharging the ways and means committee from consideration of the O'Connor-Hull bill were Reps. Bolton, Heas, Hollister and White, Republicans, and Crosser, Sweeney, Harlan, Lamneck and Fiesinger, Democrats.

All nine today announced intentions of voting for the beer bill next week while the remaining nine Republicans indicated they will be opposed to such a vote. These nine included Rep. Cooper, Mouser, Cable, McClintock, Seibling, Moore, Brand, Jenkins and Murphy.

THE WISER SEX

German Musical Plays Popular These Days

The great hit made by "Grand Hotel" in New York over-shadows everything else in the film world there, although a new diversion is found in attending German operetta movies, now considered the fashionable "thing to do."

The German pictures are shown in small theaters closer to fashionable Fifth Ave., than to Broadway. There are English captions for those who cannot follow the German language. Many of them are delightful but all are cast in much the same mold—glittering with soldiers, uniforms and modern lines for old situations.

German movies were shown with more or less success during the
